The Origins of LaHaye's Temperament Theory

LaHaye's approach to personality assessment draws from traditional temperament theories, particularly those dating back to ancient Greece—sanguine, choleric, melancholic, and phlegmatic. However, he integrates these with Christian worldview principles, emphasizing moral character and spiritual growth.

LaHaye believed that each person is created with a unique temperament that influences their decision-making, reactions, and communication style. His goal was to help believers recognize their natural tendencies and learn how to manage them in alignment with biblical virtues.
